

Hair Samples in Anthrax Case Don't Match

Thursday, 14 August 2008 07:26 -

Federal investigators probing the deadly 2001 anthrax attacks recovered samples of human hair from a mailbox in Princeton, N.J., but the strands did not match the lead suspect in the case, according to sources briefed on the probe.

More...