Americans have many fine qualities. A capacity to see ourselves as others see us is not high among them.

More...