

Empire State building goes green

Monday, 06 April 2009 18:32 -

One of the world's most famous skyscrapers - the Empire State building in New York - is going green.

A project is underway to reduce the amount of energy used in the building by more than a third, saving millions of dollars a year.

More...